The friendly solution for maximum savings

Think how much you could save reducing your electricity consumption by 25%

iGreen Total energy control saves your energy...

Far beyond a controller or energy monitor, behind the user friendly face of i-Green is a highly advanced energy management system. It's quick to install, easy to use, and puts you in control of your entire heating system or any electrical appliance. It enables, centrally and wirelessly, the programming of each individual radiator or zone, provides real-time monitoring of energy consumption and running costs, and historic operating data. Put simply, it's the technology of the future saving you money today.

Compatible with all our radiators and any electrical appliance!

When you know what's using the energy, when and how much, substantial savings can be achieved by programming your heating and appliances to match your needs.

Real energy management with...

iGreen Total energy control

i-Green enables you to analyse what is using your electricity, how much and when. Using this information you can regulate temperature settings for each radiator or zone, and programme individual timings for both your heating and any electrical appliance.

"Turning the temperature down by only 1 degree can save £65 per year"
